

Herefordshire Black & White Village Trail

Grange Court,
Leominster

Taking in the market towns of Leominster and Kington, North Herefordshire's unique 40 mile round trail of beautiful black and white villages oozes charm and history. Suitable to drive, cycle or walk. Enjoy the breath-taking scenery, delicious eateries, timeless pubs, quaint shops, galleries, and beautiful churches.

EAT
SLEEP
LIVE
HEREFORDSHIRE

Weobley

A thriving hub of quintessentially English village life. A picture book village with a remarkable collection of Black & White buildings, full of history and heritage.

Dilwyn

Dilwyn is a designated conservation area with a beautiful village green, historic buildings, and interesting features. St Mary's church has the only surviving effigy; a knight from circa 1320.

Sarnesfield

Sarnesfield St Mary is an ancient parish whose churchyard contains the grave of John Abel, Charles I King's carpenter, the builder of Grange Court (Leominster).

Kinnersley

Noted for its castle, a Norman fortress later rebuilt as an Elizabethan manor. Its impressive church with distinctive saddle back tower sits alongside housing a collection of ancient antiquities.

Pembridge

The jewel in the crown of the Black and White Village Trail. Every street contains attractive medieval buildings alongside a gallery, shops and a 17C inn.

Eardisland

Eardisland resides on the banks of the River Arrow and is one of the prettiest villages in Herefordshire with many fine black & white buildings and a 17C dovecote.

Lyonshall

Lyonshall was once listed in the Domesday Book and had its own moated castle, now in ruins. The pretty elevated St Michael and all Angels church sits alongside.

Eardisley

A pretty village with quaint timbered cottages and gardens, some dating back to the 14C. In the centre is Tram Square, part of the horse-drawn tramway from Brecon to Kington.

Kington Market Hall
Clock Tower

Herefordshire

Black & White Village Trail

Pembridge

Lowe Farm B&B, Pembridge

Dovecot

Old Chapel Gallery

Ye Old Steppes Cafe, Pembridge

Mellington House, Weobley

Luntley Court Farm Cottages

Leominster Town Centre

E: info@eatsleepliveherefordshire.co.uk T: 07710 195890 W: eatsleepliveherefordshire.co.uk

All information correct September 2020